

Nominee: Jo Bradley, Stormwater Shepherds

| | |
|------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Category | 2. Established Professional |
| Nominator | Aimee Felus, Programme Delivery Manager, The Aquifer Partnership |

Jo is the most generous professional I have met! So generous with her time, knowledge and expertise to promote SuDS to anyone and everyone who needs assistance. She is always approachable and willing to help.

Discussions with Jo are always enlightening. She is such a warm and open person and this stuff matters when you are trying to capture a new audience or convince people to try a different approach. Jo communicates with everyone on a level and no question is ever too basic. A workshop with Jo is always lively, accessible and engaging and convinces people to do the right thing when it comes to pollution prevention and SuDS.

Jo's posts and blogs online give a wealth of information and help to influence many people. In her contributions to national guidance and chairing panel discussions she guides us all forwards to elevate our activities to better manage water and ensure that urban water management is rightly pushed up the agenda.

Jo has dedicated her whole career to pollution prevention and stormwater management and it would be fabulous to see her contribution recognised with this award.